In our times war threatens to cloud our vision. But we look up and see, against a varying sky, the stately clock tower of Georgetown University. It reaches above us as a great personality chiming a reverence for Goodness and Truth — PEACE.

For just experience tells . . .

Priests, Sisters, and lay teachers provide opportunities for growth in grace, in knowledge, in physical strength and social poise.

The Jesuits of Holy Trinity encourage the students to walk with God by daily Mass, Holy Communion, weekly Confessions, annual Retreat, and novenas. While preparing them for careers in the world and in the home, the Sisters endeavor to develop the girls intellectually and emotionally. The entire faculty, religious and lay, plan with the HTH youth their various activities.

CLASS SONG:

Hail the Class of '53! Hail to its every member ·
Loyal true to one and to all
The friends we met that one September.
Sweet patron, you are Saint Therese;
Penance and purity are
Standards marked by white and purple
To conquer self and sin like thee.
Give a song! Give a cheer!
For our school days at Trinity High most dear.
Here we sing! Here we pray!
Here we struggle for triumph in work and play.
We will strive for great love;
Virtue now, and then heaven to please God above.
Holy Trinity High and the class with the purple and white.
Cheer, cheer, O class of '53,
Cheer each and every member.
Cheer for all the teachers we love
And reverence for their lives inspired.
Then join our hands in unity —
Pray we for one another;
Honor thus our Alma Mater
In time and in eternity.

It matters not how long we live, but how.

Life at Holy Trinity includes prayer, study, and play calling for sincerity, work, and patience.

What is hard is brightened by many pleasant memories. The last minute rush to class, the line-up for cokes, the frantic search for that hat, and the Mothers' Club luncheons — these little things of every day will soon be recalled with a smile of nostalgia.

In a school of about 160 students the girls know one another and enjoy the company of members from each class. A program such as a Sodality skit may gather talent from freshman to senior; or one class or two, for example, the debate on the United Nations, may present an assembly. In any case the enthusiasm and interest of the school is unified. A dance, sponsored by one class, or a basketball game finds a large majority backing the event.

These experiences are sure to make better women of HTH girls "in time and in eternity."

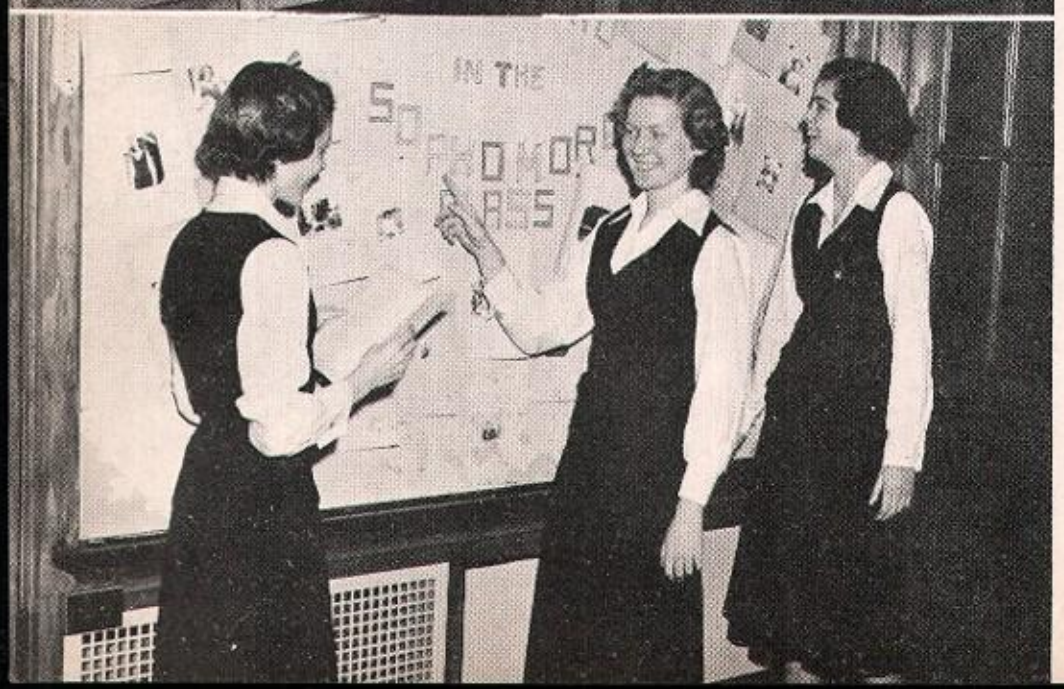
Sophomore Class



Under the patronage of Saint Agnes, the class of 1955 began its Sophomore year — their interest in school activities renewed.

The TRIANGLE staff received many new and enthusiastic members. For the first time Sophomores were admitted into the Science Club. This news attracted quite a few of the science minded Sophs. All planned projects for the annual Science Fair. The Camera Club is composed mainly of second year photographers.

Their moderator, Sr. Mary Clarissa, the newest member of the faculty, has guided them since the freshman year.

Sister Mary Clarissa, Moderator of the Sophomore Class is interviewing Inglis Phelan and Betty Henderson.

Below:
Sophomores Kathleen Burns, Anna Ruth O'Brien, and Mary Angela Sheaffer are enjoying their classmates' autobiographies.

Red and white are their class colors, similar to their flower, the red rose.

The outstanding event of the year was an original production for the seniors in which the entire class took part.

Many of the Sodality and Mission skits are due to their class, while their Pep Club members cheered the Jayvees to victory.

As the spring events draw the school year to a close, they view the past year fondly. Next September they will undertake the responsibilities that accompany upperclassmen.

Before the shrine of Our Lady of the Wayside are: H. Ambrogne (Vice-President), D. Ross (President), L. Cristaudo (Treasurer), C. Becker (Secretary).

Freshman Class

The nine months which the Freshmen have spent at Holy Trinity have been few in number but full in activity. Their first homeroom periods passed in the selecting of class officers and symbols. They chose the daisy as class flower to correspond with the colors gold and white. Using the motto "Always Aim Higher" to inspire them, they selected Saint Joan of Arc as patron.

FIRST ROW: Kathryn Ambrogne, Natalie Del Monte, Mary Sauer, Jacqueline Vogel, Jeanne McCauley, Rosanna Manning, Patricia DiFrancis, Rosann Wehrung, Natalie Tholl, Andree Proulx. SECOND ROW: Peggy Flaherty, Michelle Hogan, Ann Heffron, Mary Kolakoski, Mary Ellen Larson, Mary Ann Cuddy, Joan Boysen, Mary Catherine Wilhelm, Judy Lawrence, Joan Coan, Maureen Fitzgerald, Regina Laing.

Sister Mary Natalie, moderator of last year's seniors, was appointed to direct the young class.

The freshmen have entered the annual contests of the city and school customarily joined only by upperclassmen.

A variety of talents is manifested in this class, proved by papers handed in during the planning of their variety show. This show, given for the seniors, included songs, dances, specialty acts, and skits. Hoping for some achievement as a tribute to their school, they seem to be well on their way.

Having taken what is thought to be the hardest year of high school in their stride, they will be able to approach their sophomore year with clear minds.

Freshman class officers pose near the students' entrance to the school. STANDING: Andree Proulx, Treasurer, and Elsie Tugman, Secretary. KNEELING: Patricia DiFrancis, Vice-President, and Rosanna Manning, President.

Self-possession is the backbone of authority.

School morale is the responsibility of the Student Council. Meeting weekly with the Council, leaders of the student body, Ann Conlin, president, efficiently clarified her position and policy with regard to the cafeteria and assemblies. The "Clothes for Korea" drive and a microphone for the auditorium have been their projects; their aim, a friendly spirit of cooperation.

Girls elected to the National Honor Society immediately become members of the Student Council. Scholarship, character, leadership, and service mark those chosen. Carole Hesse and Nancy NcNamara of last year's group welcomed seniors: Lilienne Johnson, Theresa Lepore, and Ann Conlin, and juniors: Betty Maguire and Betsy Roberts to the Misericordia chapter this year.

Nancy McNamara, editor of THE TRIANGLE, and Carole Heese, senior President, welcome new members of the National Honor Society: Betty Maguire and Betsy Roberts, juniors and members of THE TRIANGLE staff, and Theresa Lepore, senior and President of the Sodality, Lilienne Johnson, senior and President of the Language Club, Ann Conlin, senior and President of the Student Council.

Sister Mary Lucia, publications moderator, congratulates Patricia Westlein, editor-in-chief of the TRINIMEMS, and thanks Patricia and her persevering staff for work well done. SEATED are: Ann Conlin, Sister Mary Lucia, R.S.M., Patricia Westlein, Lilienne Johnson, art editor. STANDING: Carolyn Lawlor, Carole Hesse, sports editor; Nancy McNamara, copy editor; Frances Blakely, Jean Menefee, typists; Marion O'Connor, business manager; Katherine Malone, typist.

As though I lived to write and wrote to live.

THE 1953 TRINIMEMS is the ninth volume to bear that title.

Business manager, Marion O'Connor, conducted the ad and patron drive while Patricia Westlein, editor, and Lilienne Johnson, art editor, worked with the dummy. Carole Hesse edited the sports, and many seniors contributed their support to the ten members of the staff.

THE TRIANGLE, HTH newspaper, aimed at six issues for its twenty-first volume, 1952-1953, with Nancy McNamara at the helm.

Sister Mary Catherine, R.S.M.

Mrs. T. J. Pekin

Dramatic productions at Holy Trinity High include the Christmas play, annual senior production, initiation and assemblies. The Class of '53 wrote and directed the initiation for the freshmen.

A new drama class was begun for seniors only and conducted by Miss Rebecca Ball. The class presented the Christmas Pageant and wrote a play with original plot, script, and music.

Members of the student body acted in various assembly, sodality, and mission skits.

The senior play is the main production of the year. "The Lady in Gray" was chosen by the class of '53 for their presentation. Directed by Mrs. T. J. Pekin, the play was given on April 17. A story of mixed identities, it included many character parts giving the seniors a real opportunity to display dramatic talents.

These productions are mediums used by the school to encourage self expression, confidence, and cooperation. All of the students are given a chance to be in one or another of the school presentations.

The entire cast of the senior production "The Lady in Gray" take their final bows with the Director, Mrs. T. J. Pekin. They are SEATED: Katherine Malone, Catherine Kearney, Mary Margaret Manning, and Carolyn Lawlor; STANDING: Joan Marie Daly, Carole Hesse, Betty Dennie, Ann Conlin, Dianne Miseli, Charlotte Frazier, Nancy McNamara, Ellen McGarvey, Lilienne Johnson and Mrs. Pekin.

Costumes and make-up for the Christmas pageant made radical changes in the seniors. J. Daly is seated with E. McGarvey and T. Lepore kneeling beside her. Standing: F. Blakely, M. Katalinas, D. Withers, J. Menefee, M. Sarsfield, M. McCann, P. Westlein and M. Manning.

Dressed for initiation duties, some of the seniors appear vastly different from usual. Marita Katalinas and Dianne Miseli kneel and Elizabeth Land, Mary Catherine Daw, Carole Hesse, Howdy Doody and Catherine Kearney stand behind.

In a scene from "The Lady in Gray" Mary Margaret Manning, Catherine Kearney and Catherine Malone look on expectantly as Betty Dennie, the maid, offers the tea tray to Ann Conlin, hotel hostess.

Pleasure and action make the hours seem short.

Clubs foster initiative and opportunity for developing individual interests.

The annual science fair is the focal point for that club's activities. Members of the biology and chemistry classes prepare exhibits for the fair.

French and Spanish clubs entertain with jokes, charades, songs, and short plays rendered in the language of the group. Interest in the countries is furthered by reading from foreign newspapers.

Every school event demands pictures. The camera club fulfills this need with fifty members participating. Action shots of basketball games have appeared in nearly every issue of this season's school newspaper.

Practically every student is enrolled in at least one club.

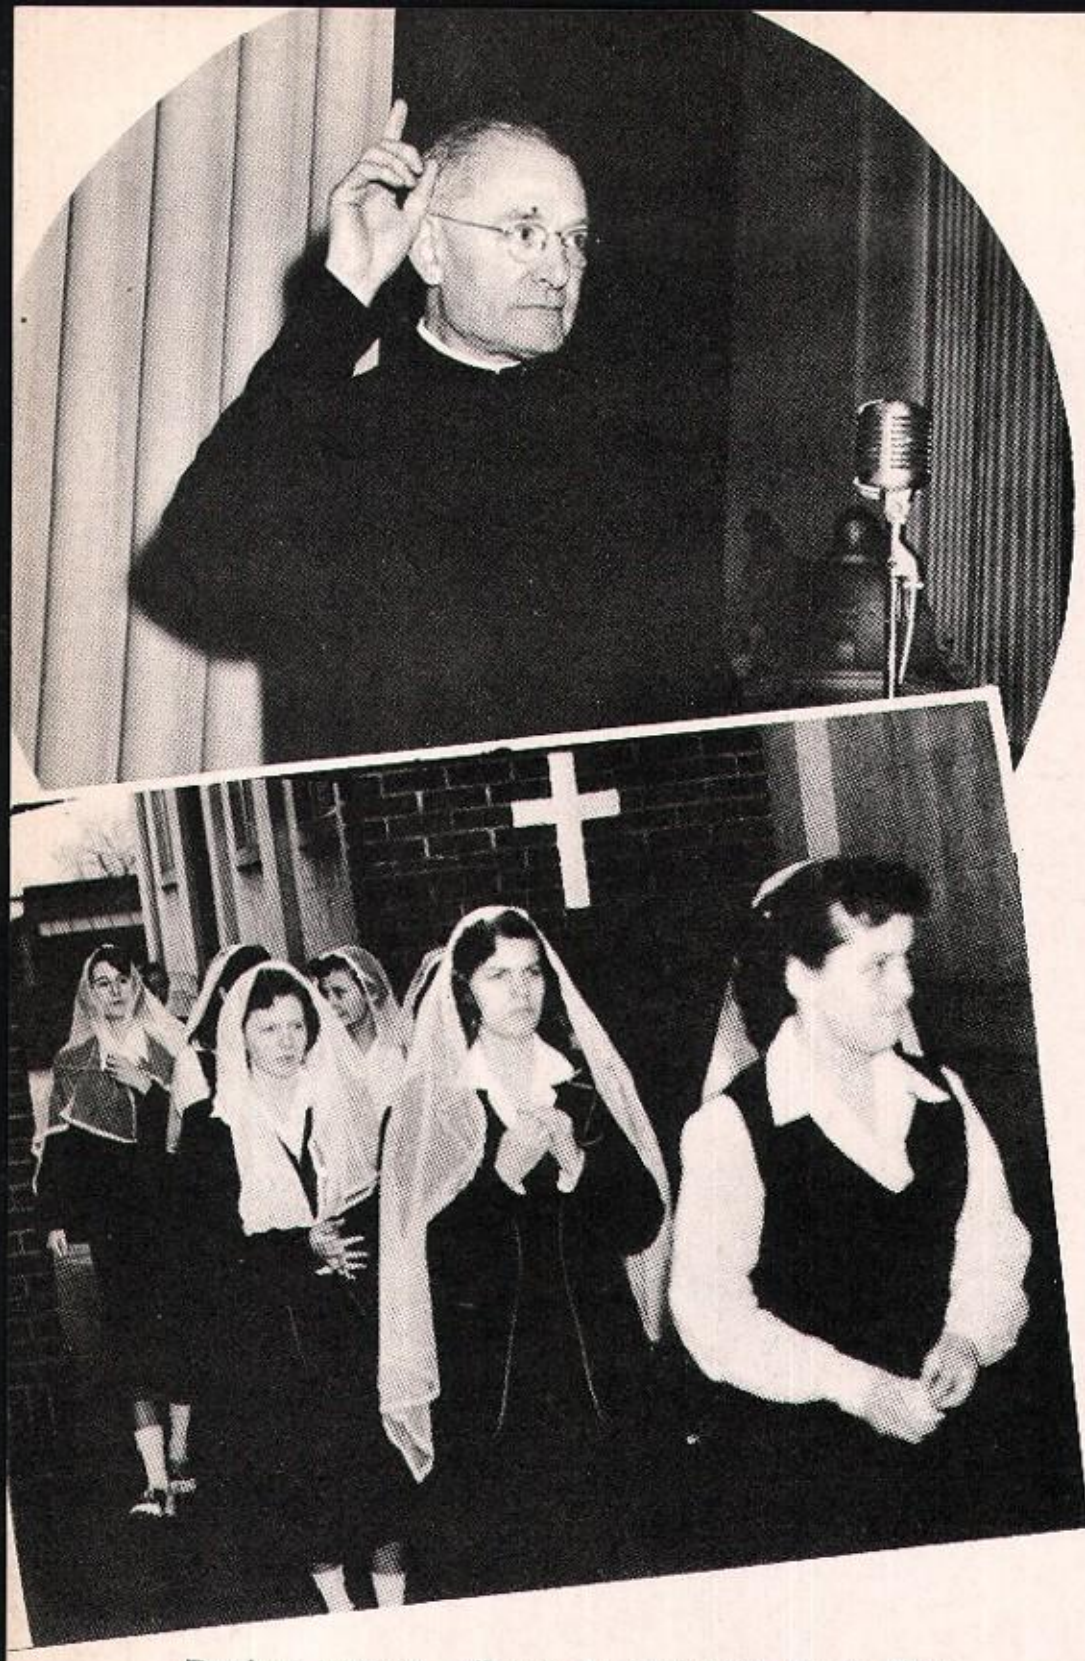
The Glee Club has a special place in the hearts of the Class of '53. As juniors they were the songsters of Holy Trinity, and sang "Come to Me" at graduation.

This year twenty-three seniors, five juniors, six sophomores, and sixteen freshmen make up the Glee Club. In music assemblies the entire school has participated, but the Glee Club has added special selections. Some favorites this season are: The Italian Street Song, Desert Song, and Carmena.

For the past eleven years Mr. Glenn W. Ashley has taught the music and directed the Glee Club which has learned more of harmony and tone improvement.

These seniors, members of the Glee Club for four years, have also added to their repertoire a number of French songs under the direction of Sister Mary Adelaide, instructor in French. FIRST ROW: Theresa Lepore, Marion O'Connor, Katherine Malone, Sister Mary Adelaide, R.S.M.; Barbara Jarrett. SECOND ROW: Patricia Westlein, Kathryne Bowers, and Carole Hesse.

Sweetest the strain when in the song the singer has been lost.



Take up your cross daily and follow me.

Reverend Louis A. Wheeler, S.J., conducted the annual retreat February 24, 25, and 26. Holy Trinity retreats begin with Mass and Holy Communion followed by conferences, spiritual reading, and meditation periods. Stations of the Cross, recitation of the Rosary, and private conferences with Father Wheeler also marked the 1953 retreat.

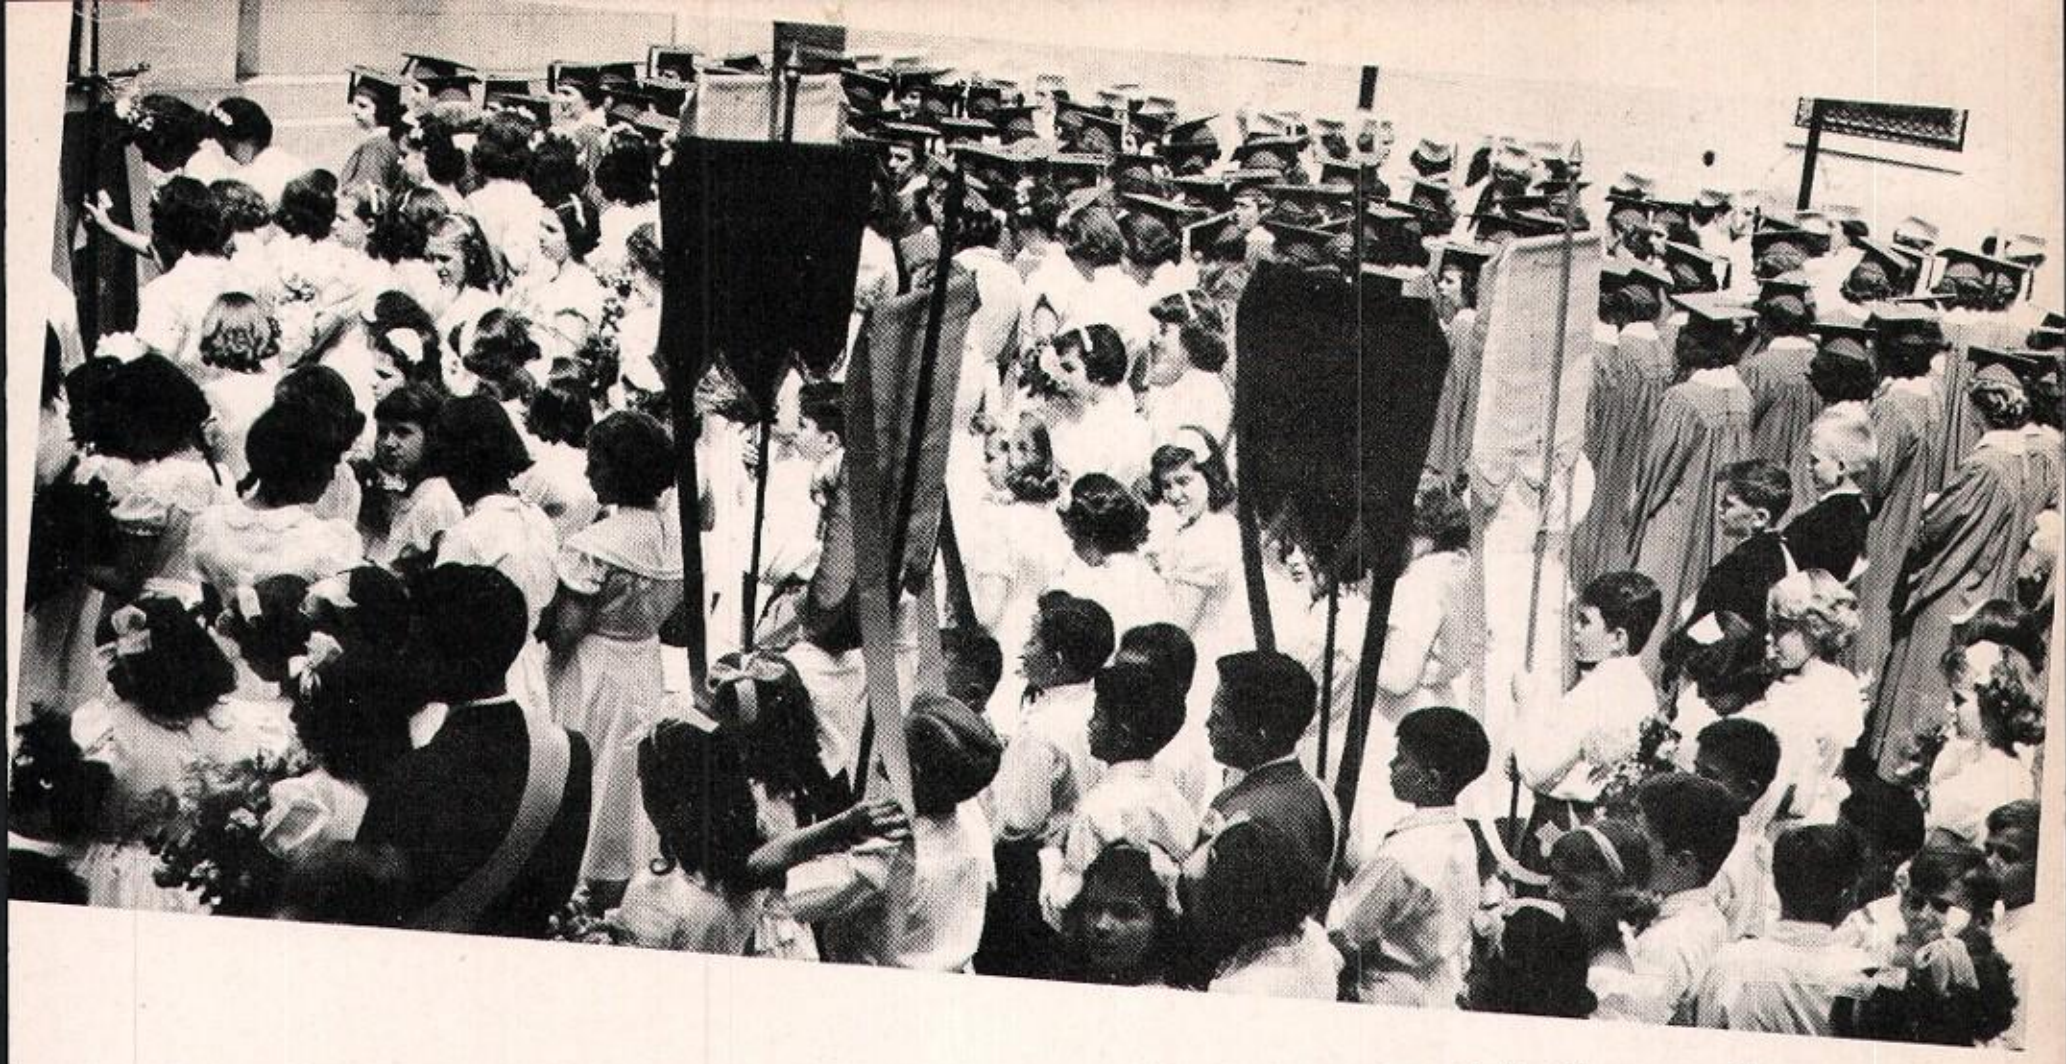
Included in the conferences were discussions of faith in God, vocations, and the problems of life. The talks were spiced with anecdotes from the life and experiences of the retreat master. These added interest and variety.

The three days of the retreat launch the last half year of school. Especially for the seniors the retreat is the climatic point of school life. It creates a peaceful time in which to organize ideals and ambitions.

During retreat, silence is observed from Mass until after Benediction. The bell has rung, and students are on their way to the parish church for a meditation. In the foreground is Catherine Sarsfield, followed by Louise Johnson and Catherine Kilbridge.

Rev. Louis A. Wheeler, S.J., conducts the retreat.

Retreatants listen to one of Father Wheeler's talks. His meditations include points on doctrine, ambitions, and rules of life.



Shown above is the May Procession which climaxes the Sodality activities of the year. The participants are the boys and girls of the elementary school and the girls of the high school, who circle the block while reciting the Rosary.

A member of the Senior Class, chosen as May Queen, crowns a statue of the Blessed Virgin. The crowning ceremony is followed by a sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Catholic action and personal sanctification are the aims of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade and of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

"Christ's Challenge to Catholic Youth," engaged juniors and seniors in oratory. Cake sales brought in funds for Jamshedpur Mission, and the Fides Settlement House profited from the collection of more than 300 toys. Moreover, prayer for the Missions precedes every class period.

Thirty Sodalists enrolled as Handmaids of the Blessed Sacrament with the promise to receive Holy Communion at least once a week. Recitation of the Little Office of our Lady and skits, besides Madonna Night and devotions at the shrine of Our Lady of the Wayside honored God's Mother and ours.

Certainly as school days end for the seniors, each girl can look back and realize that her spiritual life has been benefited through membership in these organizations.

Time purchases eternity.

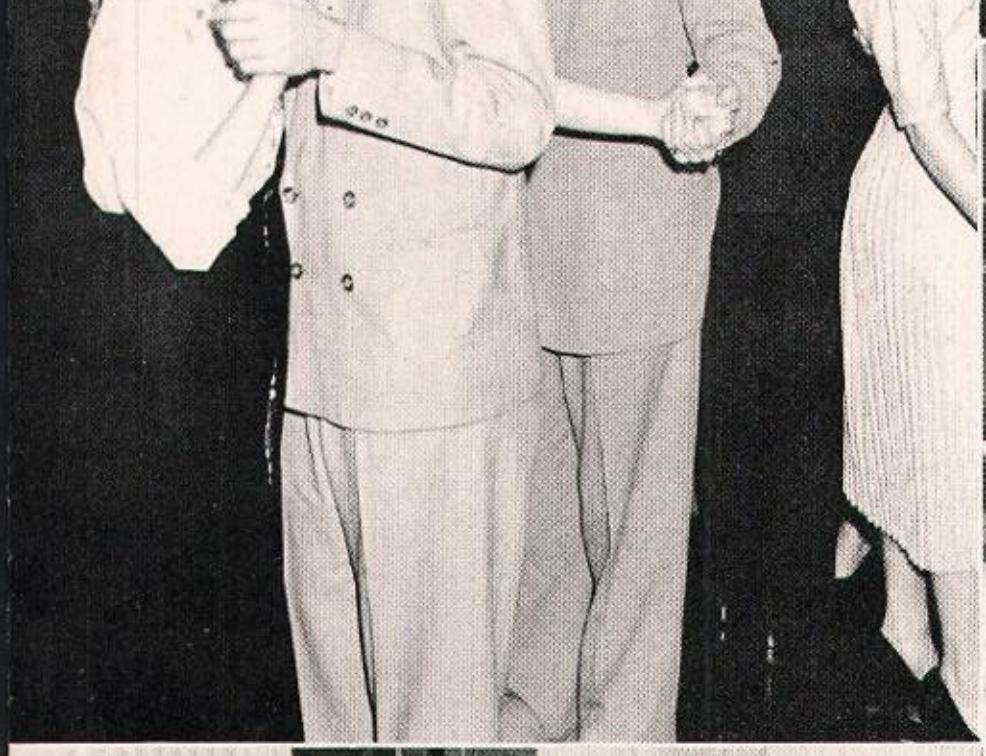
Co-ed comes to Holy Trinity when the cafeteria is transformed into a dance hall. The Senior Class sponsored the Yearbook Dance, October 11, and Hallowe'en was the occasion for the Varsity Dance.



Fortnightly dances are sponsored by Holy Trinity parish. Men of Georgetown University, juniors and seniors of Holy Trinity High, and members of Immaculata and Visitation Junior Colleges enjoy these bi-weekly Saturday evening dances. Semi-formal and formal dances held at hotels in Washington are the Sodality and Mission dances and the HTH Senior Prom.

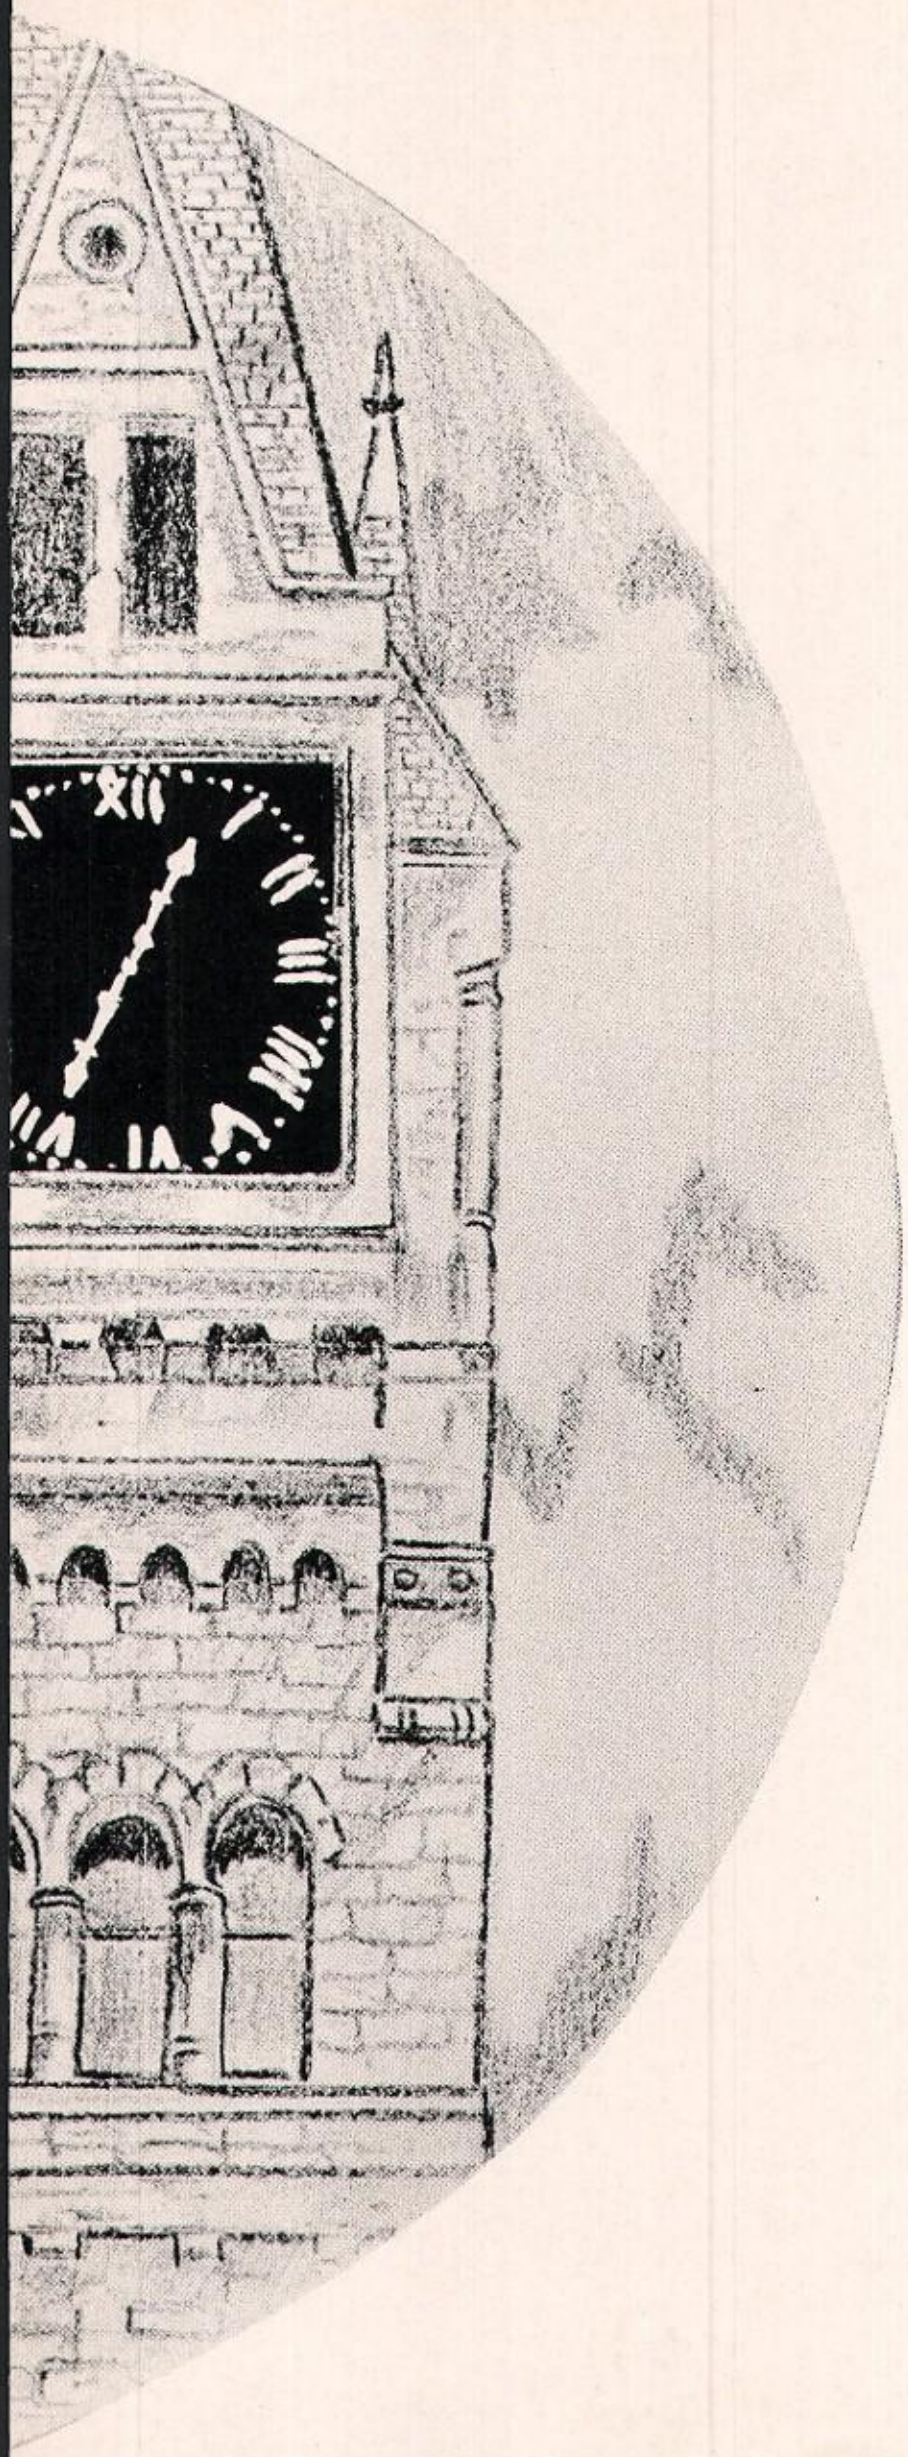
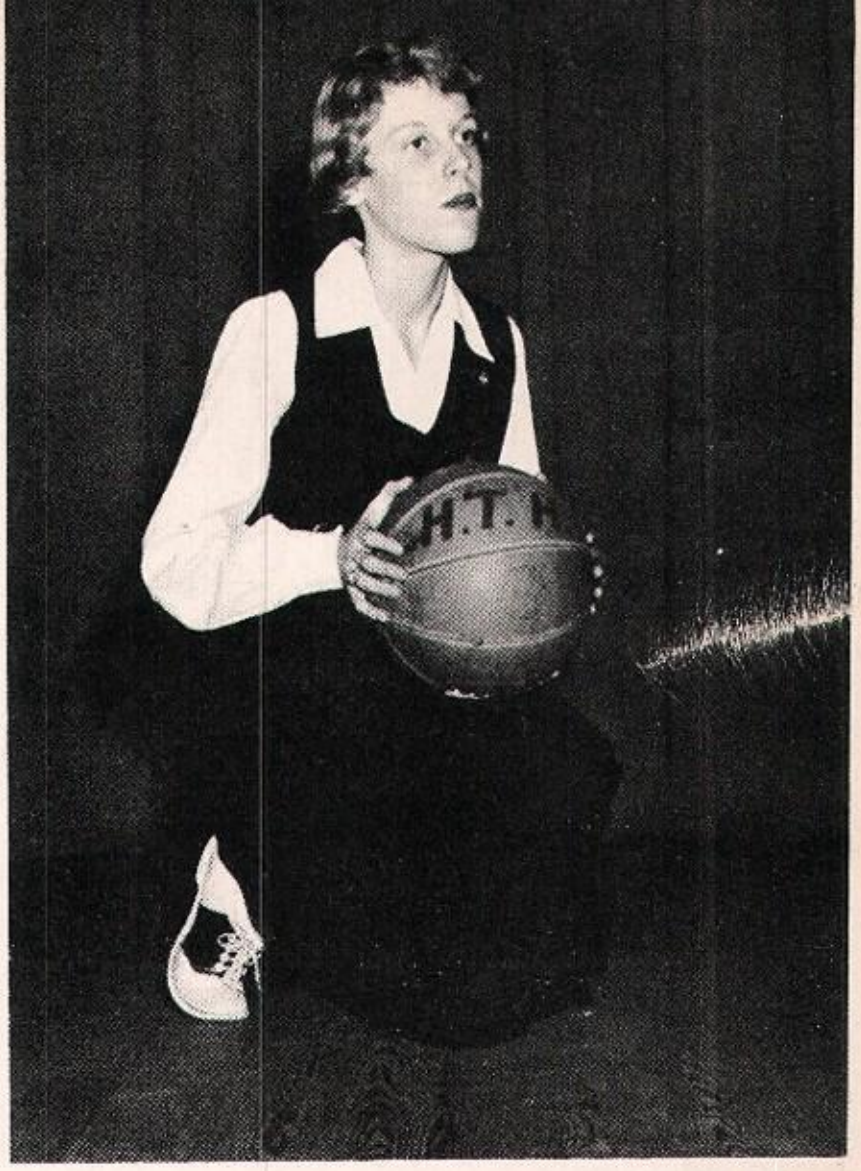
The year 1953 marks the twentieth anniversary of the Holy Trinity Mothers' Club. We pay special tribute to the charter members: Mrs. J. J. Bourke, Mrs. Rose Callahan, Mrs. T. J. Carroll, Mrs. E. L. Frawley, Mrs. E. L. Gallagher, Mrs. F. E. Kettner, and Mrs. F. R. Nichols.

The mothers feel that the kitchen "belongs" to them. During this year of evaluation they modernized it. From this kitchen monthly luncheons, breakfasts on first Friday, and an annual dinner is prepared. For their work for the betterment of the two schools we sincerely thank each and every member. In particular we thank the officers of 1952-1953: Mrs. Henry Turk,, President, and her assistants Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. John Sherman, Mrs. Robert Regan, Mrs. John Lewis, and Mrs. Louis Finegan.

Mothers prepare monthly luncheon: (L. to R.) Mrs. E. L. Gallagher, Mrs. D. J. O'Brien, Mrs. R. Hickey, Mrs. T. J. Carroll, Mrs. J. J. Bourke, Mrs. J. Seidel, Mrs. J. Buckley, Jimmy Griffin.





"Toil, feel, think, hope."

Getting together with their coach who propelled them to a victorious season are Varsity members, KNEELING: Nancy Sheehan, Pat Pekin, Rita Katalinas, Anne O'Donnell, Lois Graham, captain; Madge Iseminger, Mary Aleese Shaw, and Frances Dugan. STANDING are: Betty Maguire, Ann Marie Donahue, Betsy Roberts, Kathryne Bowers, Carole Hesse, co-captain; Coach Emma Jean Berry, Germaine Caussin, Nancy Greenfelder, and Marianna Freund.

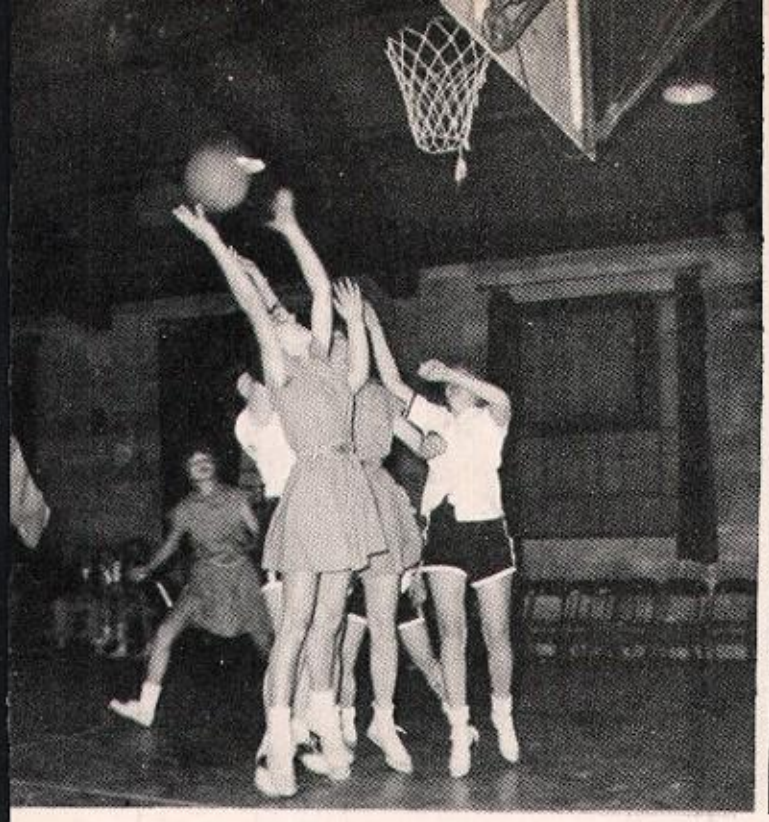
A victory well-earned

1952-53 was a red-letter season in Holy Trinity's sports cycle. For the first time in the high school's history both Varsity and JayVee teams emerged with CYO cups.

The first game, a startling upset to Holy Names Academy, gave little hope that the Varsity would match last year's pennant drive. But as the season progressed and the orange and blue began to gain ground with a winning streak, another championship looked possible.

Just past mid-season, after edging by Notre Dame, the pennant-conscious Termites turned to the last lap, not knowing that their two final games would be so crucial.

Jump higher, Carole . . . Joan Lockhart (11), Notre Dame guard, and Carole Hesse, Holy Trinity forward, jump for the ball in the closing moments of a see-saw varsity battle.



Anne O'Donnell, Termite forward, grapples for the ball with a maze of St. Dominic players.

With a fond eye Sister Mary de Lourdes, athletic moderator, admires the champions' trophies, while Athletic Association officers look on. They are Germaine Caussin, president; Nancy Greenfelder, secretary-treasurer; and Kathryne Bowers, vice-president.

And a reward well-cherished

A year to be remembered

Celebrating an undefeated season, the Junior Varsity looks back and remembers highlights of the year.

They've won their first championship in Holy Trinity's JayVee history and are the second undefeated team since basketball was inaugurated at 36th & O.

They look back and remember the games, some difficult and others easy. They remember encouraging words from the sidelines, and recall the advice of their coach, advice which often meant the difference between winning and losing.

Yes, it was a memorable year, a year in which they got into the swing of things, and learnt the true meaning of real sportsmanship.
